Rev. John Cox (1811-1895)

The Rev. John Cox is a well known social reformer and educationalist who worked in Trivandrum, Kerala for the social uplift of the oppressed and downtrodden community. He is the first LMS Missionary in Trivandrum who reached here on 3rd April 1838. John Cox obtained land at Kannammoola on 8th May 1838 for the Mission Station of the LMS. He started the first residential school in Trivandrum at Kannammoola in 1840 for both boys and girls. He also fought against various social evils like caste and gender discrimination, slavery, prohibition on education etc. He travelled throughout the South Travencore on foot and started many schools and educational institutions which attracted many natives including the outcastes and slaves towards education.
